Why APAID consulting?

Rationale

600 millions people in the world are living with a disability. Despite the fact that the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (2006) entered into force, too many remain neglected and excluded from opportunities. Event though many organizations recognize the power of sport in changing lives of individuals, only few of them include people with disabilities in their activities. Often this is due to a lack of expertise in adapted sports and inclusive activities.

Our services aim to add value and credibility to your organization by establishing the right strategies and projects to enable you to run activities for all.
